Jet, 128 Aboard, Hits Downdraft, Drops 3 Miles

Engine Torn Off;
Two Hospitalized

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — "It was like a nightmare. I thought I had fallen asleep and was dreaming. But nobody panicked. We're all proud of the human race today."

Mrs. Robert L. Monihan of Ocean City, N.J., was describing how it felt when a huge jet airliner suddenly dived nearly three miles in about 12 seconds.

The Eastern Airlines DC8 plummeted earthward in the grip of a violent downdraft. The stress of leveling off ripped away an engine.

But what could have been a disaster for the 128 persons aboard ended, for most of them, as a gay dinner at the Barksdale Air Force Base officer's club.

No Warning

The four-engine jet, out of New York City bound for Mexico City, was about 10 minutes out of Houston and 20,000 feet up when it happened. There was no warning.

Passengers with seat belts still fastened made the heart stopping plunge like a fighter pilot in a dive, held down by the strap.

Others were plastered against the ceiling and remained there, helpless, until the pilot regained control and leveled out at about 6,500 feet.

Luggage "fell" to the ceiling. Ashtrays popped out of receptacles and the contents dusted the cabin. Ladies handbags came open, scattering lipsticks, mirrors, money.

Everything flopped down off the ceiling when the streaking DC8 leveled out.

Engine Hits Stabilizer

Dr. M. C. Elroy, 52, Philadelphia, fell back into his seat by the window just in time to see the wing vibrating violently. The nearest engine ripped away and flashed back out of sight.

It struck the tail stabilizer as it went by, denting it, and fell into a field 35 miles north of Corpus Christi, Tex.

Capt. Mel H. French, of Huntington Station, L. I., took quick stock and issued a reassuring statement over the loudspeaker system.

"We don't know the exact situation but we seem to be under control up here," he said.

Shaken passengers got back to their seats and buckled in. The injured were helped by stewardesses.

After a tense interval, Capt. French reported:

"Everything is very satisfactory up here. We're all right. Fasten seat belts and stay put."

French decided to land at Barksdale AFB because of its crash-landing equipment. A radio message sent the big Strategic Air Command base scrambling into an alert.

While the DC8 circled overhead, burning off fuel, crash equipment was gathered. Six ambulances, six fire trucks, 10 physicians and about 25 hospital staff members were on hand.

Pope Paul Takes See's Possession

ROME (UPI) — Pope Paul VI Sunday took possession of St. John Lateran, cathedral of Rome and mother church of Roman Catholic Christendom, in a ceremonial pageant marked by a procession through the streets of more than 2,000 richly robed Ecumenical Council fathers.

The pontiff, cheered by thousands of Romans during the most spectacular event of the current session of the Ecumenical Council, pledged he would dedicate all his energies to making Rome "worthy of being the new Jerusalem."

The keys to the archbasilica, which outranks even St. Peter's in the Catholic tradition, were presented to Pope Paul on a garlanded platter.

Youth Admits Stab Slaying Of Little Girl

Boy, 17, Unable To Offer Motive; Town Enraged

HARDIN, Mont. (AP) — A 17-year-old high school junior, termed an average student who never had been in trouble, admitted Sunday picking up an 8-year-old girl in his car and dumping her knifed body in a roadside ditch.

County Attorney Robert Wilson announced the admission from Robert Rollins, held in jail at Billings, Mont., 50 miles away from his enraged home town here.

Wilson said he took Rollins to Billings primarily for psychiatric examination but left him in jail there because of the high feeling among Hardin residents.

Throw Body From Car

The prosecutor said Rollins told him he remembered picking up blonde, blue-eyed Signe (Stormy) Timberman from in front of his small frame home, driving around in his father's car and then throwing her body from the auto.

The child's body showed no sign of rape.

Wilson said the youth gave him a knife and told his story without reluctance but could offer no motive. He said he could not remember any details.

"He can't explain it," Wilson said.

He added that the 120-pound 5-foot-3 youth wept a little and showed deep remorse. Wilson said complete mental tests would take several days but that he would file a murder charge Monday or Tuesday. Under Montana law the youth can be tried as an adult.

Searchers Find Body

The child's body, stabbed seven times in the stomach and head, was found Friday night by a 150-man search party of sheriff's deputies and volunteers. The Rollins youth was arrested Saturday.

In the interval, citizens groups made a house-by-house search of garbage cans and incinerators looking for possible clues, posted blocks on all roads and questioned drivers.

Angry crowds milled in the streets of the 2,700 population farming community.

Sheriff Roy Riley said the crime "shook up this town like nothing else has before."

Stepdaughter Kills Ex-Boxer

NEW YORK (UPI) — An 18-year-old girl was held without bail today in the fatal stabbing of her stepfather, a hulking boxer who fought professionally as young Jack Johnson and once knocked out former heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles.

Johnson, 35, born John Lee Storey, died late Saturday of a wound in the chest inflicted, according to police, by his stepdaughter, Bobbie Steptoe in a family argument.

Two officers reportedly saw the stabbing. Called to Johnson's Queens home in a report of a dispute, they found Johnson and Bobbie in front of the house, with Johnson's wife Mildred trying to mediate.

According to police, the girl slipped into the house, returned with a six-inch blade kitchen knife and plunged it into her stepfather's chest.

SLAIN — Signe Timberman (above), 8-year-old blonde, blue-eyed daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Timberman, was found dead in a roadside ditch three miles west of Hardin. She had been stabbed to death. A 17-year-old high school student, Robert Rollins, has admitted the slaying but was unable to offer a motive. (AP Photofax)

West To Resist Interference With Convoys

BERLIN (AP) — The western allies will resist further Soviet harassment of their military traffic on the Berlin autobahn in the near future, an informed source said Sunday.

"This argument has not yet been settled," a western official said. "Our plans are based on the expectation of more trouble in the near future. The Russians don't give up that easily. We have made our point, and our convoys have gone through, but there's no indication the Soviets are prepared to accept that situation."

More convoys are expected to roll along the 110-mile lifeline to the West in the coming week. Any day a convoy moves can bring trouble, if the Soviets feel inclined to be balky.

In accordance with normal military procedure, the western allies do not announce troop moves in advance. They do give the Soviets four hours notice if a big convoy is scheduled, so the appropriate officers can be on hand to process them.

The quarrel comes down to the Soviet claim to call all the shots on the autobahn. The United States, Britain and France insist they have the right to move on it as they like.

The Russians say that they have to count the soldiers moving over the road. The western allies agree but they decide what facilities are made for counting them.

The Soviets complain they can't see to count men inside a dark truck. They demand that the truck tailgates be lowered. The allies refuse to do so.

On one occasion, an American offered a Soviet officer a box to stand on. He turned it down.

On Oct. 29 the United States, Britain and France notified the Soviets of some rules they had agreed on: The men would get down on the ground if there were more than 30—not including drivers and co-drivers. They wouldn't get down if it was raining. They would drop tailgates if the tailgates were more than six feet high—which they aren't, at least on the 2½-ton trucks.

Florida Tornadoes Damage Nine Homes

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Two small tornadoes struck on Florida's east and west coasts Sunday, damaging at least nine houses and injuring two persons.

The first tornado struck the Harbor Heights section four miles northeast of Punta Gorda, on the lower west coast 25 miles north of Fort Myers. It damaged four houses, three of them unoccupied.

Donlon Greenawalt, 57, and his wife, Pearl, 48, were treated for cuts and bruises at a Punta Gorda hospital and released.

Four hours later a small tornado dipped down near Wabasso, in Indian River County on the east coast. It damaged five houses, blew down a 25-foot water tower in a citrus grove and damaged some fruit.

U. S. Envoy Arrives

BONN, Germany (UPI)—U.S. Undersecretary of State George W. Ball arrived Sunday night at Wahn Airport on the first leg of a trip through Europe.

Ike Suggests Nixon If GOP Deadlocked

Former President Deplores Liberal, Conservative Usage

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower said Sunday that a deadlock at the 1964 Republican national convention could thrust former Vice President Richard M. Nixon into the race for the presidential nomination.

At the same time, Eisenhower stated that he didn't think people "really know what they mean" when they say they are for Sen. Barry Goldwater "because he is a conservative."

The former chief executive said Nixon has told him he "has no interest" in running for president again. Eisenhower added:

"Now if there should be one of those deadlocks... I think he (Nixon) would be one of the likely persons to be examined and approached because he is after all a very knowledgeable and a very courageous type of person."

Goldwater's Name Injected

Eisenhower made his statements on the Columbia Broadcasting System television program, "Face the Nation," while discussing his new volume of memoirs, "Mandate For Change, 1953-1960, The White House Years."

Eisenhower injected the name of Sen. Goldwater, considered a leading unofficial contender for the GOP nomination, when asked which way he thought the nation was swinging.

"As you know," he replied, "I have deplored this use of the terms a conservative and liberal. They seem to have become distorted, almost reversed in their meanings." He continued:

"Now, I think that Sen. Goldwater right now is a very popular figure and a popular name and people say they are for him because he is a conservative. But they really don't know, I think, exactly what they mean."

More Debates Advocated

Eisenhower was asked whether he thought Goldwater and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, so far the only announced Republican candidate for the nomination, should offer solutions to problems by "debate and constant discussion."

(Rockefeller has challenged Goldwater to debate him and Goldwater turned him down on the basis of Republican party unity.)

"Well, I think Gov. Rockefeller is right in saying we ought to express personally and as a party what is our approach to these problems."

Eisenhower then advocated "more debate and more people in it," including political aspirants who are not running for president.

College Dorm Is Dynamited

ALTOONA, Pa. (UPI) — A partially constructed college dormitory, site of numerous conflicts between union and non-union workers, was dynamited Sunday by a "professional demolition man."

State police said the blast, which caused an estimated $40,000 damage, was "evidently a professional job."

There were no injuries.

Construction of the building on the Altoona campus of Pennsylvania State University has been marked by flare-ups because non-union labor is being used.

Parson Works As Newsboy

LONDON (AP)—A 38-year-old Church of England rector admitted Sunday that he works as a newsboy on weekday mornings.

He goes off on his newspaper route at 5:30 a.m. six days a week, "to set an example to country clergymen who are tempted to stay in bed too late in the mornings."

Said the Rev. Anthony Andrews, rector of Evershot, Dorset:

"For a country parson, there is a temptation to lie abed in the mornings. I felt I needed some self-discipline. The money's handy, too."

Do-It-Yourself Kit Provides Detection Of Cervical Cancer

Maryland Test Of Techniques Successful

BALTIMORE (AP)—A Johns Hopkins doctor has hit upon a way to provide early detection of cancer of the cervix, a major killer of women.

The technique is simple and inexpensive. The cost per person is about $2, less than a visit to a doctor's office.

It involves bringing the cancer laboratory to the patient, with the aid of the U.S. Post Office Department.

Dr. Howard W. Jones Jr., Hopkins cancer specialist and medical director of the Maryland Cancer Society, reports that an experimental program in Washington County has rooted out 30 cases of curable cervical cancer since last December.

Previously, he said, only three to five curable cancers a year were being detected in the county.

The new technique works like this:

A do-it-yourself kit is mailed to women between the ages of 30 and 45, an age category with the highest incidence of the disease.

In the kit is a plastic pipet—now known as the Davis Pipet 8—containing an irrigation solution. The patient follows the enclosed instructions and collects 21-trusty work crew in the polder own cell samples at home.

These are mailed to a Johns Hopkins laboratory for examination. Suspicious findings are reported to the woman's doctor who arranges for further tests, and treatment if necessary.

Dr. Jones says cervical cancer is almost 100 per cent curable in its early stages. But, he says, only a fraction of the cancers are being detected in time.

The problem is that only 10 to 15 per cent of adult women make regular visits to a doctor of clinic for a smear test—the prototype for the do-it-yourself kit.

Dr. Jones predicted that 70 to 90 per cent of these cancers could be detected and cured with the new technique.

The implications for the nation are large. In Maryland alone, he says, 150 women die annually from cervical cancer; 100 of them could be cured.

The Washington County program has been so successful, the cancer society is expanding it to include other Maryland counties. Dr. Jones says the technique could be applied statewide by 1968.

Trusties Back In Pokey After Party, Brawl

SIoux FALLS, S.D. (AP) — It's a change of pace for half a dozen prisoners from the state penitentiary here. They're in jail at Custer, in southwestern South Dakota.

Warden Don Erickson set out Sunday on the 400-mile drive to Custer to investigate the goings on Saturday night at a reported wine party and free-for-all fight that landed six members of a 21-trusty work crew in the polder own cell samples at home.

Prison officials said the crew had been at the former state tuberculosis sanatorium at Sanator, near Custer, to dismantle some buildings.

Deputy Warden Joel Jensen said the crew had been doing excellent work, until Saturday night when some wine appeared among the trustees from an undetermined source. Shortly, he said, a general fight broke out.

It was quelled by police, sheriff's officers and highway patrolmen, called from four nearby towns.

Hope Abandoned For Lad Buried In Old Ore Mine

RINGWOOD, N.J. (UPI)—A teen-age boy was buried in a cave-in at an abandoned ore mine Sunday and rescuers said "there is no chance of him being alive."

Harry Van Dunk, 16, was entombed in a 100-foot deep open-pit mine by tons of rock, dirt and water. Volunteers and firemen attempted to reach him, but were hampered by three subsequent cave-ins.

In view of the quantity of rubble which had fallen on the boy, police gave up hope of finding him alive, but the rescue operation continued.

Police Chief Roy Van Tassel said Van Dunk was playing the mine when the cave-in occurred. The mine is located in a desolate area off a dirt road about edge of the 50-foot wide crater a quarter mile from the Van when the ground gave way and Dunk home.

446 Miners Listed Dead, 10 Missing

Train Wreck Death Toll 162, Including American Student

TOKYO (AP)—Japan, a nation often beset by tragedy, mourned its dead Sunday from the twin disasters of a coal mine explosion and triple train wreck that killed more than 600 persons.

The toll in the mine explosion Saturday on the southern island of Kyushu was officially put at 446 miners dead, 450 injured and 10 missing.

The train wreck left 162 dead, including an American student, and at least 70 injured. It occurred 15 miles south of Tokyo, near Yokohama, six hours after the mine disaster.

A spark apparently ignited a cloud of coal dust in the underground tunnels of the Miike mine at the port city of Omuta. Many miners were burned by a giant fire ball. Others suffocated in deadly carbon monoxide fumes left by the explosion.

The explosion occurred at the afternoon shift change when more than 1,300 miners were underground—twice the regular work force. Stunned rescuers found at least 100 bodies near personnel carriers used to transport the men to the surface at the end of a work day.

Three Trains Pile Up

As the news of the explosion at Japan's largest and most modern mine spread across the nation, disaster struck again. A packed passenger train speeding toward Tokyo smashed into a derailed freight train, then leaped across the tracks into the fourth and fifth cars of a commuter train coming from the opposite direction.

Steel coaches were slashed and crumpled. Some of the bodies were so badly mangled positive identification was only possible through fingerprinting.

Among the dead was William Scott, 28, of Colorado Springs, Colo., a student at Tokyo's International Christian University. He died in a hospital a few hours later.

The cause of the original freight derailment still was not known.

The accident occurred at one of the busiest sectors of the Japanese rail system. And the two passenger trains bore down on the freight within half a minute of the derailment.

Rail President Views Coffins

Some mourners accosted Reiske Ishida, president of Japan National Railways, as he moved amid rows of coffins at a Buddhist temple near the wreck. But the grief-stricken official could give no reply to their demands for an explanation of the accident.

Earlier, he said he accepted full responsibility and would offer his resignation to Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda.

The combined death toll of the two accidents was the highest since 1954 when an overcrowded ferry boat capsized in a typhoon off the island of Hokkaido and 1,172 drowned, including 56 Americans.

Survivors emerged from the Miike mine, which accounts for 10 per cent of Japan's coal output, with a grim picture of the carnage below.

"It was a great, great noise and the blast tumbled me off balance," said Ukichi Hamada, a 54-year-old miner who was caught by the blast because he worked two hours overtime.

"Immediately the lights were out and dust and gas surrounded me. I ran here, there, everywhere in the pitch dark trying to find a ventilator. I finally

Rep. Hays Says Waiter Served As Liaison Man

LONDON (AP)—Rep. Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, said Sunday he brought the head waiter of the House of Representatives dining room to Paris on an expenses-paid trip to serve as liaison man for the American delegation to a NATO parliamentary conference.

The trip by waiter Ernest Petinaud has caused considerable comment in Washington.

"Petinaud, who is French-speaking," said the congressman "is on vacation. He acted as a liaison man between the American delegation and NATO headquarters, taking and bringing messages."

This would involve trips back and forth from the Hotel Continental in downtown Paris, where the delegation stayed, to NATO headquarters on the West Side near the Bois de Boulogne. This task is usually performed by the French-speaking drivers permanently attached to the U.S. mission to NATO.

"He worked for us for his expenses on this trip," Hays said, "and got no other remuneration."

The delegation to the NATO meeting is on its way home. They traveled from Washington in an Air Force plane assigned to them.

The delegation, Petinaud included, is staying at the Hilton, London's newest luxury hotel. Hays has a suite and other members have single- or two-bedded rooms.

Maryland Briefs

BALTIMORE (AP)—The negotiations between Martin Co. and representatives of the United Aeronautical Workers of America got the services of a federal mediator Sunday.

The union had announced earlier it would strike the company's three plants at midnight Wednesday unless tangible gains are made at the bargaining table. George R. Lee, who has been assigned to the talks by the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, will sit in on future negotiations by invitation of both the union and the company.

Some 9,000 production, maintenance and cafeteria workers are involved in the negotiations at plants here, in Denver, Colo., and at Orlando, Fla.

BALTIMORE (AP)—Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin, Republican, left Johns Hopkins Hospital Saturday with his usual flourish. He distributed autographed dollar bills to nurses and orderlies.

"Man, I've got that signed dollar bill you gave me in 1961 framed," remarked one orderly grinning. McKeldin had been hospitalized then for ulcer trouble.

"I feel great," the mayor said. "They've been tapping me from head to toe and now there's hardly any more wheezing."

He had been hospitalized for a week for an asthmatic condition.

Cosmonaut, Bride Arrive In New Delhi

NEW DELHI, India (UPI)—Soviet cosmonaut Andrian Nikolayev and his bride, fellow space traveler Valentina Tereshkova, arrived here Sunday to begin the kind of two-week honeymoon most newlyweds shun—not much privacy and a raft of public appearances.

The couple was married a week ago in a glittering Moscow ceremony attended by Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

al corpses stood by. "Everyone was very calm on the plane," said Dr. Elroy. "I heard a thump as we circled. Then a fighter plane zoomed by under the wing. I learned later he was sent up to see if the landing gear was damaged. The thump was the wheels letting down."

The landing, at dusk Sunday, was silken smooth. "There was a burst of applause from the cabin," said Dr. Elroy. "It really was an indescribable moment."

The crippled jet wheeled on up to the parking apron at the base operations office. "They walked out white as ghosts," said an Air Force officer. "Some of them were gray with cigarette ashes. A few were mussed up but all were calm."

The reaction set in about 10 minutes later. Many of the passengers began trembling violently. Some were treated for shock.

Capt. French got another round of applause from the passengers when he stepped off the plane last.

Twenty-six persons were treated on base. Six were sent on to a Shreveport hospital. Others were taken to the officers club.

Another Eastern DC8 arrived at the field Sunday night and 101 of the passengers continued their flight.

Of those sent to the hospital for examination, only two remained Sunday.

Tawes Urges Americans Pray, Work For Peace

SALISBURY (AP)—Gov. Tawes said Sunday that speeches, parades and stirring ceremonies are an appropriate honor for the nation's war dead "but we can do much more if, by our own actions, we strive to emulate their deeds of courage."

"As we look around ourselves today, we are sharply conscious of the fact that the peace we enjoy today is a fragile and uneasy one," he said in a speech prepared for a Veterans Day program here.

"The threat of war—and a war more destructive than could have been dreamed of by those we honor—hovers over us constantly."

"This is a challenge that calls upon us to display as much courage as was displayed by the men who fought in the wars in the past. It is a stern reminder to all of us that we must be prepared to make the same commitments, the same sacrifices, and if we expect to preserve the

Kentucky Town Honors Banana

FULTON, Ky. (AP)—This southwest Kentucky town got back to everyday business Sunday after having a ball in honor of the banana.

The first International Banana Festival ended Saturday night with the crowning of 18-year-old Carol Glisson as festival princess.

The beauty pageant followed a three-hour long parade featuring 35 floats and 30 marching units and the serving of the world's largest banana pudding. One ton of the pudding was dished up to the public.

Reason for the six-day festival, which officials said will be an annual event, is that the tropical fruit is shipped here from southern ports, for inspection and re-jacking and shipment to inland points.

Stalks were hung from parking meters for passers-by to take. There was a banana shoot (arrows fired at stalks of bananas from 50 feet) and selection of a grand champion banana baker.

Two persons were hurt during the big banana bash. How? They slipped on banana peels.

reached one and found about 100 other miners there, but the ventilator did no good."

Their eyes smarting as more gas seeped into the tunnel, the miners discussed their plight. "We decided to act together and crawled through one tunnel after another trying to find a way out of the gas. We were just groping in the dark, hoping for a miracle."

"Soon my legs began to weaken and I knew the gas was going to finish me before long. I leaned on the shoulder of the man next to me and somehow he must have dragged me the rest of the way."

"All I know is that suddenly we found ourselves a clear shaft and got out."

Prince Joins Cadets

LONDON (UPI)—The Sunday Express reported Sunday that Prince Charles, heir to the throne, has joined his school's naval cadets as a first step to entry in the Royal Navy in which his father served.

State Baptists Will Consider College Plan

BALTIMORE (AP)—A new Baptist college for Maryland may be in the works as the Baptist Convention of Maryland opens its annual convention here Monday night.

Delegates to last year's convention approved establishment of such a college as soon as funds were available. Plans will be discussed during the convention this year to see if more definite steps now can be taken.

The Rev. Dr. Cline L. Vice of Glen Burnie, Md., who heads a committee that drew up a college charter, indicated he would move for the charter's approval during the meeting. His committee also expects to seek permission to conduct a campaign for funds to establish the college.

A budget report will be presented for approval of the convention by Elmer F. Ruark of Salisbury. It is expected to contain one item of $575,000 for denominational missions.

Scheduled to address the convention Wednesday is Glenn L. Archer, executive director of Protestants and Other Americans for Separation of Church and State.

Archer's last appearance in Baltimore was several days before John F. Kennedy was elected the first Catholic president of the United States.

Archer, before a packed house in the Lyric Theater, denounced what he called "Roman clericalism."

Boats, Copter Hunt Man Missing In Bay

CHESAPEAKE BEACH, Md. (AP)—Coast Guard and Tidewater Fisheries boats were joined by a Navy helicopter Sunday in a search for a Laurel, Md., man missing in the Chesapeake Bay.

The missing man, Lewis Forrest of Maryland 5, was spilled into the chilly bay waters when his boat overturned on a pre-dawn fishing trip.

A companion, Harry B. Ham, also of Laurel, was plucked from the water by a fishing boat, the Mary Lee.

The Coast Guard said Forrest's 14-foot runabout capsized about two miles off shore from Chesapeake Beach.

BRUNSWICK, Md. (AP)—Thirteen member of a Virginia high school band were hospitalized Sunday after collapsing during a Veterans Day program here. Doctors said they suffered nervous exhaustion.

The group representing York High School of Yortown, Va., had just finished marching in a

All were taken to Memorial Hospital at Frederick, about 15 miles northeast of Brunswick, where none was reported in serious condition.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — For years "they said it couldn't be done." But now a Texas firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment that is not only stopping hair loss . . . but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. If they believe that the treatment will help you, they invite you to try it for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to satisfy everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But how can any man or woman be sure what is actually causing their hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Actually, there are at least 18 scalp conditions that can cause hair loss. No matter which one is the cause of your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have hair (or at least some fuzz) on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair . . . now is the time to do something about it, before it's too late.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered promptly, by mail and without obligation.

GOREN ON BRIDGE

BY CHARLES H. GOREN

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ
Q. 1—As South you hold:

♠ J73 ♥ A874 ♦ K732 ♣ A3
The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♥ Pass
2 ♥ Pass 2 NT Pass
3 ♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Four hearts. It is true that partner's return to three hearts is in the nature of a sign off but one must not lose sight of the fact that he opened the bidding. Your hand has the value of 13 points and partner's return to hearts makes it a moral certainty that he has four trumps. You should contract for game.

Q. 2—As South you hold:
♠ A64 ♦ KJ75 ♣ A1094
The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 1 NT Pass
2 ♠ Pass 2 ♥ Pass
3 ♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Two diamonds. Offensive prospects on this hand are outstanding, for when partner responds with one no trump to a club opening that shows a hand of about average high card strength (9-11 points) plus a probable club fit. Since your holding is all controls, a slam investigation should be begun. If your reverse in diamonds elicits a club preference, you can cue bid the ace of hearts next to see partner's reaction.

Q. 3—As South you hold:
♠ A43 ♥ A K ♦ K92 ♣ 109864
The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♥ Pass
2 ♥ Pass 3 ♥ Pass
3 ♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—A drastic bid by you is in order at this time. While your hand started out with a value of 15 points, it has increased enormously at the bidding has developed, for you solidify both of partner's suits. The indicated call is, therefore, three spades, a cue bid forcing to game. Partner can hardly play you for more, inasmuch as you passed East's two spade bid, which in itself was rather a conservative maneuver.

Q. 4—As South you hold:
♠ K1072 ♥ 853 ♦ K J ♣ 10984
The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West
1 ♥ Pass 1 ♠ Pass
2 ♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Two no trump. This may seem rather drastic with only six points

MRS. JAMES B. LAMBERT
KEYSER — Mrs. Mary Jane Lambert, 76, of 365 Grand Avenue, died Friday in the Oak Rest Nursing Home, Oakland, Md.

Born in Doe Hill, Va., she was a daughter of the late Henry and Rebecca (Puffinberger) Simmons. Her husband, James B. Lambert, died in 1961.

She was a member of the Calvary EUB Church. She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Anna Richards, Keyser, with whom she resided, two sons, Russell Lambert, Gorman, and Herman Lambert, Keyser; a brother, Charles Simmons, Franklin; a sister, Miss Ruth Simmons, Washington; five grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

The body is at the Markwood Funeral Home. Services will be conducted at the funeral home today at 2 p.m. by Rev. Millard Floyd. Interment will be in Potomac Valley Memorial Park.

MRS. WILBER WADDELL
LONACONING — Mrs. Isabella Waddell, 52, died at her home here yesterday morning.

Born in Gilmore, she was a daughter of Mrs. Margaret (McFarland) Lancaster, of here, and the late Thomas Lancaster.

Mrs. Waddell was a member of First Methodist Church and the WSCS of the church. Surviving, besides her mother, are her husband, Wilber Waddell; one son, Richard Waddell, of here; two brothers, John Lancaster, Midland, and William Lancaster, Shaft, and three sisters, Mrs. Wilma Thorpe, Gilmore; Mrs. Martha Smith, Shaft, and Mrs. Jennie Scott, Grahamtown.

The body is at the Eichhorn Funeral Home where friends will be received today from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

A service will be conducted at the funeral home tomorrow at 2 p.m. by Rev. George Loar. Interment will be in Frostburg Memorial Park.

M. GILMORE DOBBIE
M. Gilmore Dobbie, 75, of Fairmont, W. Va., died Wednesday in Fairmont General Hospital.

A native of Lonacoring, he had been a West Virginia coal mine inspector for 40 years.

His wife, Mrs. Rosetta (Graham) Dobbie, a native of Mt. Savage, died several years ago.

He was a son of the late James J. and Sally (Clark) Dobbie. Survivors include a son, Dr. J. J. Dobbie, Hagerstown; a daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Owen, Toledo, Ohio; a sister, Mrs. John Somerville, city; a brother, Clark Dobbie, Fairmont; and four grandchildren.

In high cards, but partner has shown a very powerful hand with a value of at least 19 points, which gives the partnership a minimum of 25 points. It seems to us it is desirable to indicate possession of a partial stopper in clubs.

Q. 5—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠ 642 ♥ A K J 7 5 ♦ A Q 4 ♣ 8 3
The bidding has proceeded:

East South
What do you bid?

A.—Pass. This hand tempts many players into a two heart overall, which is fraught with danger. While prospects of game are remote at the present time, the risk of a sizable penalty is distinct. Beware of hands in which you have three losing cards in the suit with which your adversary has opened the bidding.

Q. 6—As South you hold:
♠ K Q J 10 9 4 ♥ A 6 ♦ A ♣ A Q 9 3
The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East
2 ♠ Pass 3 ♠ Pass
4 NT Pass 5 ♠ Pass
What do you bid now?

A.—Our choice is six spades. Since partner has made a positive response to your two bid without the ace of clubs, he surely has either the king of diamonds or the king of hearts, or both. This solves the problem of disposing of the six of hearts, for surely he must have a club suit as good as five to the king-jack.

Q. 7—As South you hold:
♠ K10864 ♥ 7 3 ♦ 6 2 ♣ A J 8 4
The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East
2 ♠ Pass 3 ♠ Pass
4 NT Pass 5 ♠ Pass
What do you bid now?

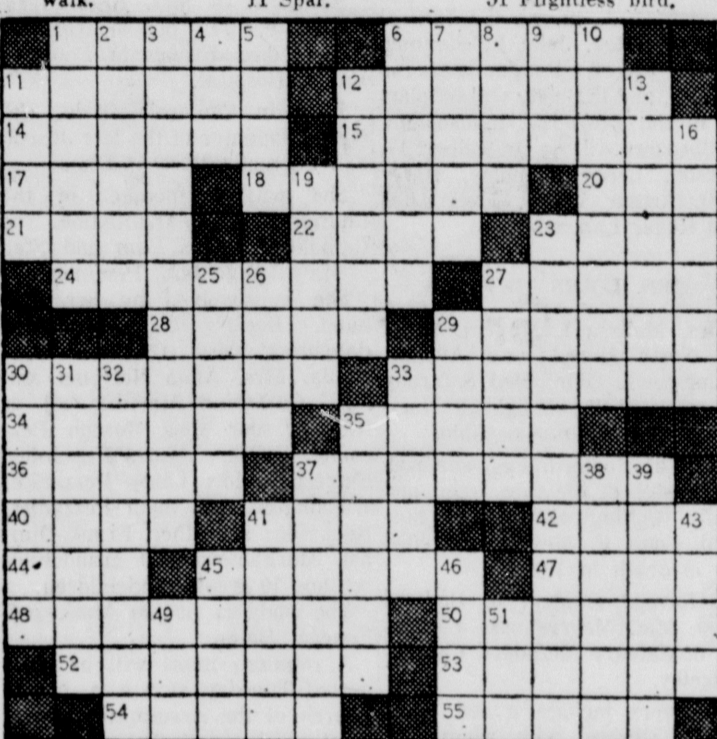

A.—So far as partner is concerned, you may have nothing, yet he is forcing you to bid again at the level of two. He must, therefore, have a powerful holding. If you should respond with only two spades, he will have to proceed on the theory that your hand lacks offensive values. In order to avoid such a construction, you should bid one spade more than necessary, in other words, three spades.

Q. 8—Partner opens one spade and you hold:
♠ K 7 2 ♥ A J 8 4 ♦ K 5 ♣ A 6 4
What is your response?

A.—There is a response which announces to partner: "I have a 4-3-3 hand and could have opened with one no trump had I been the dealer. Take it from here, you know what I have." That bid is three no trump.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

The Home-Nurse Needs Smile Insurance

Ten out of ten doctors would agree that one of the best medicines for a sick or convalescing patient is a serene smile on the face of his nurse.

When you're the "nurse," caring for the patient at home, you may find your supply of smiles running short if your back becomes strained, your feet start to ache and your temper begins to fray from fatigue.

Taking an extra load of unfamiliar nursing routines in addition to regular household duties is bound to be taxing in itself. But, with a few common sense adjustments, the home-nurse can make her double-role much easier on both herself and the patient. Here are some suggestions to think about:

First of all, set up a definite plan for each day's care and try to hew to the time-schedule as closely as possible until it becomes a regular habit. With this system, you'll be sure to remember everything that must be done for the patient and be able to work out a method for combining procedures in ways that will cut down disturbances for the patient . . . and will save steps for you.

Next, make sure each step you take in your nursing care counts, by locating the patient in convenient quarters. For example, placing his bed downstairs, temporarily, will eliminate tiring stair-climbing.

Still speaking of steps, think of your feet. You'll get into stride lots faster wearing comfortable shoes, laced for good support, with low or medium heels . . . as any R. N. will testify.

Now, pay attention to your posture, especially if the patient you tend is bound to his bed. Keep your back straight whenever you must lift. Bend at the knees and hips whenever you must stoop.

Having the bed at proper height helps immeasurably. Regulation hospital beds can be rented, a

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My wife and I recently bought a lovely new home near an Air Force base. This was a big mistake. Our 17-year-old daughter thinks it's her patriotic duty to go out with every crummy young squirt in a uniform.

It's impossible to tell who these fellows are or what kind of homes they come from. Polly has a date every Friday, Saturday and Sunday night with somebody or other. The Lord alone knows who they are.

I told my daughter from now on she can't go out with anybody until I know what his father does, and something of his family's reputation. Furthermore, I want to see some pictures of his home.

Polly says I am unreasonable. Am I? How else can a father keep tabs on his daughter's companions when they pop up out of nowhere and they all look alike? —CHOOSY AND PROUD OF IT

DEAR CHOOSY AND PROUD: Why don't you just tell your daughter she can't go out with a fellow unless he brings over his old man's financial statement? This is what your demands add up to.

The Air Force has all sorts of young men — which should be no surprise to anyone who has lived in the world for awhile. You can tell a great deal more about a person by listening to him speak for 15 minutes than by looking at a picture of his house.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Boy, do I have a problem. If you can help me you are a genius.

My maiden name is a very common Scandinavian one—not Anderson, but in the same category. I married a great big, adorable Swede whose last name is the same as my maiden name. My husband has two brothers and I have four brothers. Two of our brothers and two of our uncles have exactly the same name. If someone yelled "Swede" control.

at a family picnic, eleven guys would stand up.

I am expecting a baby in January. My husband wants to name the baby after his brother. If this happens, he will be the fifth boy in the family with exactly the same name. I want to give the baby a name which will be distinctive. What can you suggest? —TOO MANY DUPLICATES

DEAR TOO MANY: How's "Izzy" — and if he's a she, you'll have a double exclusive.

DEAR ANN: This family next door has three children, but the 14-year-old girl is the one I'm writing about. She could pass for 20 any day.

The sorrow of my life is that we never had any children. My husband has sort of adopted this girl. He says her own father never paid any attention to her and she needs guidance. The girl has grown very fond of my husband—even brings her report card here before she takes it home.

Yesterday she carried over a birthday cake which she baked herself and gave him a big "birthday" kiss right in front of everyone. I told him a girl with that build is no child and that I don't like all the chummyness.

My husband loves kids and is active with the Boy Scouts. I say he should stick to boys and leave the girls alone. What do you say? —EYES OPEN

DEAR EYES: I say your disappointment at not having had children has made you resent this girl because she is filling a void in your husband's life.

He sounds like a mighty fine guy and the relationship with the girl next door appears to be open, wholesome and useful. Knock off the criticism.

CONFIDENTIAL TO HONEY BUN: Welcome back from Mars. You must be a new reader. Here's how we handle it. We tell the guy to prove HIS love by exercising a little manly self-control.

Significance Of Veterans Day

Two minutes of silence at 11. Then the big bells of Verdun Cathedral leaped to life to chime out the tidings. American doughboys, led by a drum corps, entered the streets of this town whose name still is the synonym for deathless heroism. Buglers from a French regiment joined them.

A formless, delirious procession it came to be, joined by the townspeople and by poilus from the hospitals who had hobbled out, bringing with them comrades whose faces had been almost shot away.

What was happening in Verdun was reflected in the bonfires of joy that lit the stilled guns of all the long battlefield and was typical of a universal reaction to celebration the like of which the world has never beheld before or since.

The celebrations that followed the ending of World War II were muted in comparison. They were so because the armistice that was signed and celebrated in 1918 as an end to all the hideousness of war had only brought bitter disillusionment.

The sons of the doughboys became the GIs who had to march away to win another and greater war little more than 20 years later.

Two minutes of silence at 11. It is Veterans Day 1963. No longer an occasion of celebration, it is a day of unforgettable observance and deepest significance. Regrettably, there will be no formal observance in Cumberland, but that does not prevent each person from quietly observing the one anniversary that has emerged from both world wars, a day that brings to humble men everywhere the memory and the hope of the deep longing for real peace.

Foreign Policy

The persistence with which Republicans who want a "middle" sort of candidate are mentioning the name of Nixon can be explained in two ways, one favorable to Goldwater, one not.

The pro-Goldwater analysis stresses the alleged poverty and lack of oomph of an opposition that must turn to somebody who lost two big-time contests, one for the Presidency and one for governor of California, all within the space of two years. According to this line of thought, Romney, Scranton, General Clay and Nelson Rockefeller himself have already been tried and found wanting. So who is left but Nixon as a last, forlorn gasp of desperation?

If this is all there is to the Nixon boom, then the Goldwaterites can count their man in. But the surprising thing is that the name of Nixon is brought forth over and over again in anything but forlorn accents. He is mentioned as a proven campaigner who, after all, was defeated in 1960 by a few doubtful votes. The Nixon fans insist on the positive appeal of their man, and they argue that it could be all the stronger in 1964 because Kennedy, as the "in," will have to defend some shaky policies.

Whether this way of thinking is valid or not, the Goldwaterites had better proceed on the assumption that Nixon is far from being a paper tiger. The man has many things going for him, particularly when it comes to the discussion of foreign policy. No one who has talked with Nixon on the subject of the Cold War, or the troubles of the captive nations of eastern Europe, or the failure of our policies in Cuba and Latin America, can fail to be impressed with this man's detailed knowledge of international affairs. If Kennedy should stumble in his efforts to make "peace" a viable Democratic slogan for 1964, Nixon would assuredly be able to wring every last ounce out of the failure.

This is not to say that Barry Goldwater has a defective grasp of foreign policy matters. But in this particular area he has had the habit of tossing things off with a sentence. One knows what he thinks on a number of things, but one is not aware of the processes of investigation and reasoning that have led to his conclusions.

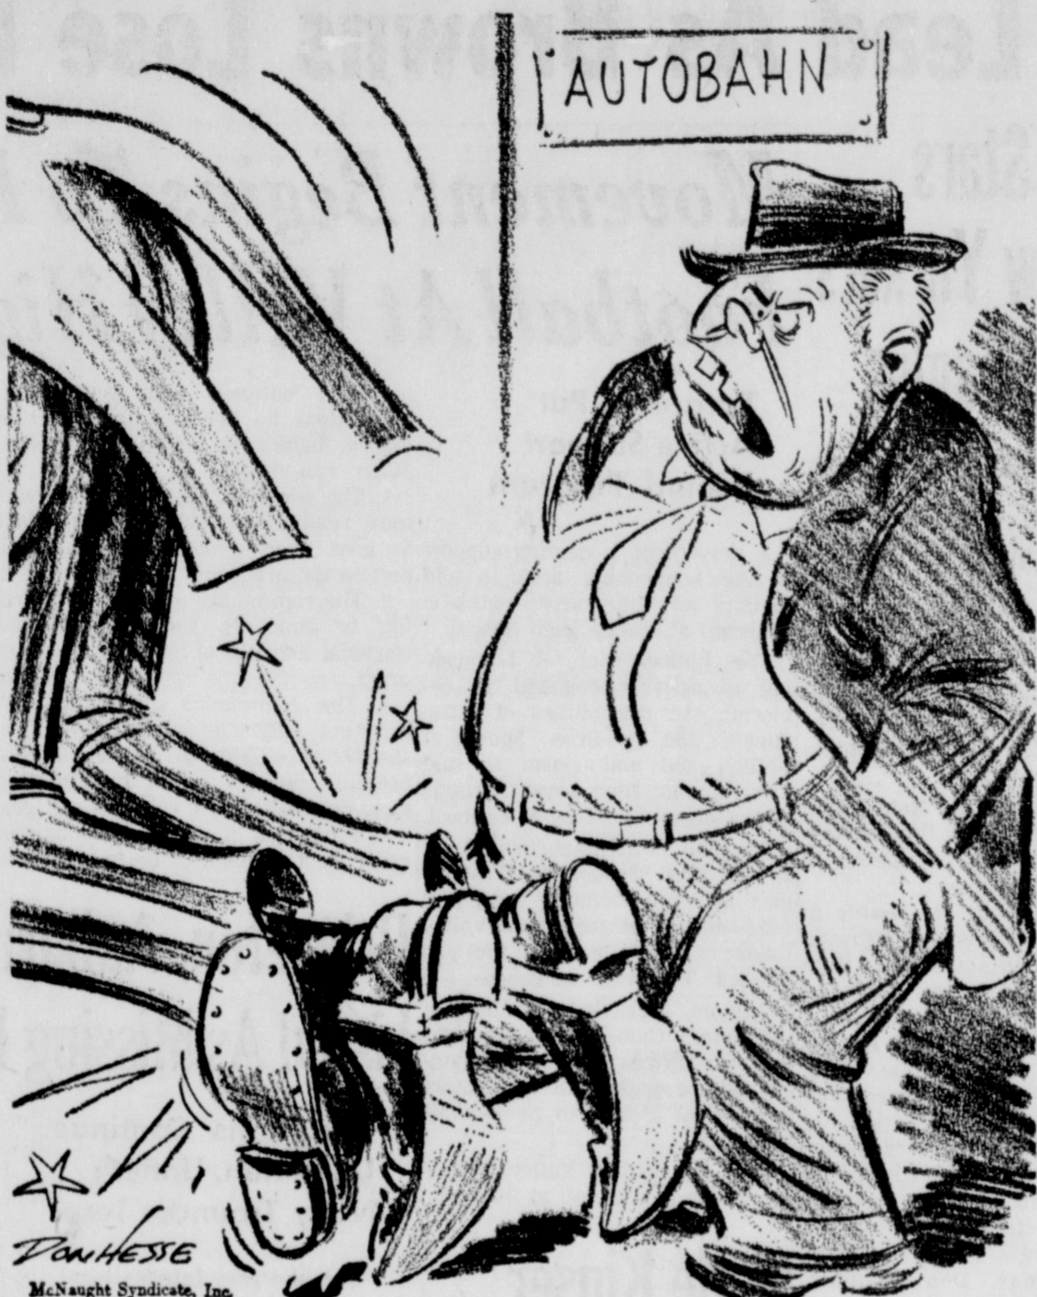

Both Nixon and Goldwater, one feels sure, have identical opinions about the character of Khrushchev, or the danger of resting any real hopes on the test ban, or the wickedness of letting Fidel Castro get away with his contemptuous anti-U.S. line. But where Nixon can always point to a "position paper" in the form of an interview, or speech, or a Saturday Evening Post article to sustain an opinion, Goldwater has had to fall back on a categorical reply.

Bob Taft was in something of the same fix when he was first mentioned for the presidential nomination. Because his record had been made largely on domestic matters, he seemed open to the charge of being an "isolationist" in foreign policy. Of course he was anything but an isolationist, and he eventually got around to publishing a small book on his foreign policy views. It did him no great amount of good, for the Republicans of the Forties and Fifties were in the grip of their "liberal" psychosis and correspondingly anxious to find an unquestioned "liberal" symbol. Goldwater is in a better position than Taft for the simple reason that it is no longer considered a mark of the beast to be a conservative. But he has yet to "position" himself fully on foreign policy.

There are reports that the Goldwaterites are moving to remedy matters in this area. Some solid academicians who do not fall for the "be nice to Khrushchev and he will end the Cold War" line are being recruited to provide background for Goldwater if and when he calls for it. These academicians include Dr. Robert Strauss-Hupe of the University of Pennsylvania and Stefan Possony of Stanford University. Their choice has come none too soon, for the Kennedy Administration is currently taking long risks for "peace" all over the world that may or may not result in the real thing.

'Ya Tryin' To Start A War Or Something?'

New Access Agreement Is Needed For Berlin

By David Lawrence

our dead bodies."

The American version of the Autobahn incident is that it was the Soviets who departed from the "established" procedure. This is the kind of argument that normally is threshed out by the foreign offices and the diplomats, but the Khrushchev statement indicates clearly that the Soviet troops are under "operational instructions" to shoot whenever they themselves wish to deviate from the customary procedure and the Allied forces in response attempt to maintain their own rights.

No more dangerous setup could be devised to bring on a war. If shooting starts, there will not be time to argue afterwards just who departed from the "established" rules. But now everybody knows that the Soviet military forces have been told to shoot when challenged. Mr. Khrushchev's policy appears to be to seek gradually to impose more and more restrictions until the Allied forces have been driven out of the Berlin area altogether.

Mr. Khrushchev views it as a test of nerves. He says: "Evidently it must be a test of nerves on your part. When you decided to test our nerves, we decided in response to put our armored cars across the Autobahn to test your nerves and see if you would start shooting or not. And we were glad you didn't."

It seems incredible that the relations between the Soviet Union and the United States have reached a point where any instructions have to be issued to the respective military forces of these two countries to "test nerves." Meanwhile, the United States, France and Great Britain have explicitly charged in a formal note that the Soviet Commander deviated from the agreed-upon regulations for control of the Autobahn.

The whole episode comes as a big surprise to many people who had been led to believe that the signing of the nuclear test-ban treaty and the prospective sale of wheat to the Russians had established a kind of "euphoria," or at least a spirit of mutual understanding or restraint. Today the remarks of Premier Khrushchev stand before the world as a disclosure of the strategy and tactics of the dictator in the Kremlin. His latest words will be widely construed as an effort to bluff the United States into getting out of Berlin. He may have come to believe that nuclear war is feared so much in America that almost any step which could possibly become an involvement in war will be avoided and that concessions will be made to the Communists.

Recently a "hot line" was installed between the White House and the Kremlin to permit instantaneous communication in a crisis. But if the Soviet troops have been given orders to fire without getting in touch with the Kremlin itself, it is conceivable that bloodshed will occur long before any "hot line" could be put to use.

It would appear that nothing is more important now for the United States government than to have a clear-cut understanding with the Soviet Union as to what it intends to do in the area around Berlin and to ascertain whether Khrushchev has actually instructed his military forces to fire upon American forces whenever the latter do not act in accordance with procedures "established" unilaterally by the Soviets. It would seem desirable, too, to set up a machinery for immediately resolving any conflicts in understanding about "established" procedures.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

DE GAULLE ARGUMENT—The French government view that Western Europe must build up its own defense capability independent of reliance on U. S. strength is finding support in two actions undertaken by the Kennedy administration.

One is the decision to sell wheat and other grains to Russia. The other is the massive air-lift of American troops to Europe and the implication that this mobility will permit the United States to cut down on its permanent garrison there.

French President Charles de Gaulle has been arguing for a year that unless Europe builds up its own defense force it may find itself stripped of military strength some day if America's self-interest should veer away from its present common anti-Communist interest with Europe.

DeGaulle contends that the U.S. government must follow its own self interest, just as other governments must, and there is no guarantee that the United States some day will not desert its present commitments to defend the Continent.

De Gaulle's position strikes at the very heart of the U. S. effort to build up mutual defenses against Russian Communist advances. The Kennedy administration found itself in a position of having to constantly re-affirm its pledges of aid and assistance to other European government heads. It has had to re-state its intention to stand by its commitments.

However, Gaullist advocates point to the two current events as proof of their argument. They are impressing some diplomatic sources with their contention that (1) when U. S. interest dictates increased trade with Russia it was followed unhesitatingly, although its long-standing policy was to hold trade with the European Red bloc to a minimum and (2) that when U. S. interest dictates a cut in its European military garrison as a dollar - saving move, it is following that dictate.

Some diplomats are becoming increasingly impressed.

Chinese Had Way To Keep Their Women Home

By Theodore R. Van Dellen

The practice of binding the feet of Chinese women existed more than a thousand years. The fashion has become obsolete and it would be difficult to find this type of deformity in any gal under 30 years of age. No one knows how the custom started except that the ancient Chinese considered small and lotus-shaped feet the acme of beauty. Parents realized that girls with normal feet would be hard to marry off.

The deforming process was begun when the children were between 2 and 6 years old; after it was completed these women could hardly walk. This was not the reason for binding but it did keep women indoors and out of temptation and mischief.

It is difficult to describe the appearance of these poor feet. Molding and tight bandages raised the arches upward like a tent, and shortened the feet. The big toe was turned outward and the other four toes were bent under the soles. When the mutilation was complete, the heels and four smaller toes bore the weight of the body.

The Canadian Journal of Surgery carried an article on the subject by two Chinese physicians living in Hong Kong. These men say the gait had no resilience or spring and the women walked "with a stamping gait like wearing wooden stilts." It was almost impossible to go up and down stairs, walk on a slope, or run. Special shoes or boots with a raised heel had to be worn because of the misshapen front part of the foot.

Binding the feet in this way is extremely painful and not harmless. Pressure sores often developed during the process, especially when it was done by inexperienced persons. The bandages may have been put on so tightly, circulation was impaired and the ensuing gangrene required amputation. Fungal infections of the toes and nails were common because of the poor hygienic state of the feet. Tuberculosis of the bones of the feet occurred also and osteomalacia (loss of calcium) was encouraged because these housebound women never got any sunlight or out of door exercise.

I'm happy foot binding is out of style and I'm sure Chinese women are, too.

TOMORROW: Gamma globulin and immunity.

EMOTIONAL WELTS

Mrs. B. writes: Could hives have an emotional basis? Sometimes I can eat everything without getting welts. Other times, everything I eat seems to cause them.

REPLY

Yes—especially chronic urticaria.

FATAL INEBRIATION

M. D. writes: How could acute alcoholism cause death?

REPLY

An overdosage of alcohol can be poisonous, leading to paralysis of respiration, heart failure, and swelling of the brain. Many intoxicated persons also die from falls or auto accidents.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Autobahn Crisis Put White House On Orange Alert Just Short Of War

By Drew Pearson

button had been pushed.

Only this time there would have been few, if any, civilians around to nurse the wounded, or bury the dead, or erect markers in memory of the dead—if that button had been pushed.

Woodrow Wilson talked about a war to end war. He failed. But last week it would have been a real war to end war — because there would have been few around to fight another war—if that button had been pushed.

The Erosion Of Peace

In the fall of 1959 after President Eisenhower received Nikita Khrushchev at Camp David, there was proclaimed a new attempt by the world's most powerful nations to clear away Soviet-American suspicion. Both men had suffered in war. Both had known what it was to send masses of other men into battle. Both wanted to avoid war in the future.

Both agreed that their countries would stop name-calling; that Khrushchev would go to Peking to persuade the Chinese to quit threatening Formosa; that they would get together at an early summit conference.

Khrushchev did go to Peking. He got rebuffed. Eisenhower took a trip half-way round the world, was welcomed by Communist children waving "I Like Ike" flags in Italy.

Then the erosion began. The summit conference was to be held in December. But the State Department said that was too soon. February was mentioned. More postponement. Under Secretary of State Douglas Dillon made a speech. It pulled part of the rug out from under the Camp David spirit. Chancellor Adenauer made speeches. The last thing he wanted was better understanding between the USA and USSR. Other of our allies burned up the cables. They were dependent on U. S. Aid, and if there was no fear of Moscow by Washington they knew that aid would stop.

Secretary of State Chris Herter, influenced by these allies, made another speech. It had repercussions in Moscow. The hard-core Stalinists long before this had been needing the moderates. "You can't trust the Americans," they argued.

Came May 1960. The long delayed summit conference was about to meet in Paris. Someone in Washington sent the U-2 spy plane over Russia. The Russian people boiled. The summit conference was off.

Erosion Of Test Ban

Last summer the United States and Russia made a new start toward better understanding. A test ban treaty was signed. A telegraph line was installed between Moscow and Washington. It was agreed to keep armed satellites out of outer space. It looked as if a wheat deal would be negotiated.

Then the eroders of peace started to work.

Khrushchev has his enemies inside the Kremlin. Red Army leaders haven't enthused over the reduced arms budget. Herr Ulbricht in East Germany has been needing him about Berlin. The Red Chinese have been calling him an appeaser. In Washington the Goldwaterites have been saying the same things of Kennedy.

Harry Truman, when President of the United States, said, October 4, 1952: "Why did we not have a clear right of way to Berlin? We should have had it. The arrangements were to be worked out by the military commanders in the field. Our commanding general (Eisenhower) was informed of his responsibility to work them out. He delegated this job to Gen. Clay, and left Europe. Gen. Clay met with the Russian military leaders and got only oral assurances, instead of a precise agreement in writing—Gen. Clay in his book admits this was a mistake."

Regardless of whose mistake it was, there are thousands of men under white markers who must wonder whether they will be joined by other men under more white markers all because of an argument over lowering a tailgate or counting 42 men on the Berlin highway.

"We who lie here have nothing left to pray," wrote Alfred Noyes in 1916. "To all your praises we are deaf and blind. We may not even know if you betray our hope to make earth better for mankind."

Clemenceau at the Paris Peace Conference in 1919 said: "Listen, I can hear the soldiers of 1914 weeping." Today the soldiers of Guadalcanal and Salerno and the Yalu River must be wondering—and weeping.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

WASHINGTON, D. C. — It was beyond twilight, almost dark. We left the executive office side of the White House and walked down the curving gravel path toward the gate. Behind was a young sickle moon, hanging over the executive mansion like a fake. "There's a man in that car ahead," Kelly said. I looked. Automobiles were parked on the left side. Yes, there was a man in one. He got out.

"I thought it was you," he said. I squinted. It was Mr. James Rowley, Chief of the United States Secret Service. He is a man with a good-looking kisser and a sprinkle of frost in dark hair. I said hello, and introduced my wife. "What are you doing here?" I said. He smiled a blarney smile in the dark. "Just looking around. Hop in, I'll take you where you're going."

"Thanks," I said. "We're staying at the Washington Hotel. It's just around the corner." He opened the door of the dark car. "Good," he said. "Get in and I'll drop you off." We did. Jim Rowley is an old friend. It is impossible to talk to an old friend for a minute. The gaps of time must be bridged. And Rowley is worth any man's conversation because he is a gentleman who never stops studying and learning.

Once, a long time ago, he was an agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Then he became a Secret Service man. He drew the White House detail under President Franklin D. Roosevelt. Rowley became chief of the White House group under Harry Truman. He was in a little office off the press room in the executive wing for a number of years.

We met when Eisenhower was serving his first term. He was interested in a book that I had written called "The Day Lincoln Was Shot." Rowley had studied the book more intensely than I had written it. "I counted them," he said one day. "Fifty odd coincidences that day caused the assassination. If just one of them had happened the other way . . ."

Now there is a new President named Kennedy, and Jim Rowley is no longer in the White House detail. He's the chief. He has a nice office in the Treasury Building and he can play the executive. Instead, as night fell, he was sitting in a parked car in the White House driveway watching people go in and come out. It was a chilly evening, and he could have been at home with his lovely wife Mabel and his three girls.

The Secret Service does a lot more than protect the President. It also protects the currency of the U. S. from counterfeiters. Still, its most dramatic duty is to preserve the life of the President. When Roosevelt was in office, the work was wild and woolly because it was a big family of extroverts who might be on three different trains and four planes on any one day going to seven different places.

The President was conscious of his leg braces and Secret Service men huddled around him so that photos of the President, walking painfully and smiling richly, were hard to obtain. President Truman was among the easiest of Presidents to protect. He walked anywhere at any time, and his own boldness helped him. No one ever took a shot at him on the street.

Once, he was almost assassinated at Blair House by two wild nationalists from Puerto Rico. At that, he would have been in no danger except that he rushed to the front window when he heard the shooting in the street. Later, he remitted the death sentence of the one who lived.

When Dwight D. Eisenhower was President, he worked well with his Secret Service Agents, but he attended the same church—National Presbyterian—and played golf at the same club—Burning Tree—and these make the work difficult because a would-be assassin must know where his victim is going to be. And everyone knew where Ike was going.

I attended services with President Eisenhower and his family the morning before his second inauguration. Jim Rowley and his men, as always, examined the church Saturday night. They explore every pew, every radiator, every cranny, even the cellar furnace. Once the premises are declared "sanitized," no one was allowed in, even in the minister.

In a way, it wasn't worth all the trouble because President Eisenhower is one of the loudest off-key singers in the world. He can make a psalm sound like a rock slide. Even Mrs. Eisenhower glanced at him once or twice, but he pretended he didn't notice.

When the Eisenhoweres were in the church, only regular parishioners were permitted inside. Truman, on the other hand, was never certain what church he would attend, except that he preferred Baptist. He walked vigorously in a straight line until he saw a red light. Then, instead of stopping, he would turn right and keep walking until he saw a church.

How can anyone plot to kill a man who isn't sure where he is going? President Kennedy attends mass at any one of three churches in the Washington area, and no one is sure which one until he gives directions to the driver. He works well with the Secret Service and won't go to a football game without giving advance warning to Jerry Behn, present chief of the White House detail. Mr. Behn and his men "sanitize" the stadium.

The United States lost three Presidents to assassins: Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley. We sat awhile talking about those three. Then I said goodbye to Jim Rowley. "Do me a favor?" he said. I nodded. "Don't write anything about me. There are a lot of good men—"

"There is an old joke," I said, "about an actor who has played Lincoln so many times that people say he won't be happy until he's assassinated."

He didn't think it was funny. . .

Colts Strike Early, Outlast Detroit, 24-21

Unitas' Aerials Click In 1st Half

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Colts scored 17 quick points and the defense had to hang on for a 24-21 National Football League victory over the Detroit Lions Sunday.

The Lions whittled away the Colt lead to three points before the third quarter ended and were across midfield three times in the scoreless last quarter. They were set back twice on 51 yard penalties for clipping and an offside killed their last chance.

The Colts, after hitting long and fast on the throwing of quarterback John Unitas, had a 24-7 lead early in the second quarter and that was all for the night.

Defensive heroics by halfback Bruce Maher, who blocked a field goal try, intercepted a pass and stole the ball, gave the Lions their big opportunities to fight back.

The Colt offense looked as in their days of yore in the first quarter. On the third play, Unitas and Raymond Berry connected for a 64-yard scoring play. It was the first touchdown of the season for Berry and longest for the Colts, who had scored through the air only seven times in eight games.

After Jim Martin kicked a 25-yard field goal, John Mackey took a 42-yard scoring pass from Unitas and the Colts led 17-0.

Quarterback Earl Morrall ran and passed the Lions to a touchdown early in the second quarter, a 20-yard to Gail Cogdill doing the trick.

The Colts went 67 yards in eight plays to preserve their 17-point margin. Lenny Moore running the last four for the score.

Maher blocked a field goal try by Martin and in five plays the Lions went 44 yards for a touchdown by Tom Watkins. After Maher intercepted a Unitas pass, Detroit moved 76 yards in seven plays for the last score of the game on a 10-yard from Morrall to Terry Barr.

On the first play after the kickoff, Maher stole the ball from Jimmy Orr, who had caught a pass on the Colt 37.

The Lions reached the 26 before a clipping penalty set them back out of reach.

Martin's field goal margin of difference was the second time this season he beat his former team. He kicked four in the earlier 25-21 Colt victory over Detroit.

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Charles McClellend of Louisiana State University and Charles (Rip) Engle of Penn State will coach the All-Star squads in the 26th annual Blue-Gray football game here Dec. 28.

Allyn McKeen, general manager of the annual game, announced Sunday that McClellend has accepted an invitation to coach the Gray squad and Engle will head the Blue's coaching staff.

McKeen also said Don Faurot, athletic director of the University of Missouri, will come back as an assistant coach for the North for the 10th straight year.

Marvin Bass, South Carolina's head coach, will assist McClellend.

Earlier, the National Broadcasting Co. decided not to televise the game after being advised Negro players could not participate.

Podres Fined $175 On Driving Charge

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Dodgers pitcher Johnny Podres is $175 poorer after pleading guilty to a drunk driving charge.

The 31-year-old southpaw was arrested last Oct. 25, and was scheduled originally to appear in court Tuesday.

He pleaded guilty Friday before Municipal Judge John Olson, who pointed out it was Podres' first offense.

Podres was with a blonde dancer when arrested.

Black Hawks Upset

BOSTON (UPI)—The last place Boston Bruins smashed Chicago's unbeaten streak Sunday night by beating the National Hockey League's leading Black Hawks, 4-2.

The Bruins, winning only their third decision in a dozen games, were cracking a Black Hawks unbeaten streak of 11 games, a club record, and giving Chicago only its second loss in 14 outings.

LeClerc's Field Goals Give Bears 6-0 Victory

Chicago Turns Back Rams, Remains Tied With Green Bay

CHICAGO (AP)—Roger LeClerc booted field goals in the first and third quarters and the Chicago Bears' defense did the rest, protecting a 6-0 victory over the Los Angeles Rams Sunday.

The victory kept the Bears tied with Green Bay for the National Football League's Western Conference lead. Both have 8-1 records.

The Packers, whose only loss was to the Bears earlier, meet Chicago in Wrigley Field next Sunday.

As the Bears' offense sputtered behind erratic quarterback Bill Wade, such defensive giants as Earl Leggett, Bob Kilgallen, Doug Atkins and 260-pound rookie John Johnson of Indiana came to the rescue.

They hounded Roman Gabriel so viciously that the Rams' passer seldom was on balance. The Rams never got past the Bear 36 and in the first half they gained only 36 yards, including a minus three in the air. In all, the Rams gained only 88 yards.

The Bears drove 65 yards to the Ram nine in the opening five minutes of the game. But a series of penalties set them back and eventually LeClerc booted a 30-yard field goal.

The Bears nursed the 3-0 lead until 3:20 remained in the third period. Wade's 15-yard pass to Mike Ditka and Willie Gailmore's 44-yard sprint with a pass set up another field goal attempt. LeClerc hit from the 16.

In the last minute of the game Charlie Bivins' runs herded the Bears on a 65-yard thrust to the five. LeClerc's field goal try from the 12 was blocked by Jack Pardee.

Tittle Stars As New Yorkers Batter Eagles

Completes 16 of 20 Passes, 3 For TDs, In Seventh Victory

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Giants charged into a first-place tie in the Eastern Division of the National Football League Sunday by rolling over the battered Philadelphia Eagles 42-14.

Y.A. Tittle, the old Bald Eagle of the Giants, threw three touchdown passes and completed 16 of 20 for 261 yards.

The victory put the Giants in a tie with the Cleveland Browns, who lost to Pittsburgh 9-7. Both the Giants and Browns have 7-2 records.

Phil King scored twice for the Giants, on a 38-yard pass play from Tittle and a three-yard romp around end. Tittle hit Joe Morrison on a seven-yard touchdown pass and Frank Gifford on a 14-yard toss. Alex Webster drove home from the two after a 40-yard pass from Y. A. to Aaron Thomas. Don Chandler added the five extra points.

The Eagles were in the ball game only briefly. A 64-yard bomb from King Hill to the fleet Tommy McDonald tied the score at 7-7 in the first period. After that, the Giants simply battered the Eagles forward wall and hounded Hill and his successor, former Giant, Ralph Guglielmi, who made his first appearance for Philadelphia.

After Tittle had posted a 35-7 lead on the scoreboard, Coach Allie Sherman gave rookie Glynn Griffing a chance to run the club with three minutes to go in the third period. The former Mississippi quarterback finished the game although he gave up a touchdown when rookie Lee Roy Caffey of Texas A&M intercepted and ran 87 yards for an Eagle score.

In the final two minutes Griffing threw his first TD pass as a pro, a 22-yard toss to Del Shofner, who was all alone in the end zone. Chandler added his sixth conversion.

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Sophomore sensation Charley Johnson broke a St. Louis club record with three touchdowns passes that gave the Cardinals a 24-20 victory over the Washington Redskins Sunday in a National Football League contest.

Two late touchdowns by Washington on short runs by Billy Barnes made the score close.

Johnson pitched to Bob Paremore for 30 yards, Bobby Joe Conrad for 20 and Sonny Randle for 14 on his scoring heaves. He has thrown for 13 touchdowns this season, breaking the old team mark of 17 set by Paul Christian in 1947 and tied by Jim Hardy in 1950 and John Roach in 1960.

The victory left St. Louis in third place in the Eastern Division with a 6-3 mark. Washington fell to 2-7.

Johnson's 21-yard toss to Randle also set up a second-quarter field goal that gave St. Louis a 10-6 halftime lead. In all, Johnson completed 17 of 29 passes for 195 yards.

But he had to share some of the glory with the Cardinal defense that held the Redskins without a touchdown until the last period. Before that, only two field goals by Bob Khatay kept Washington in the game.

Movement Begins To Introduce Football At Valley High School

Rotarians Put Active Support Behind Program

A movement is gaining support in the Lonaconing area to add football to the varsity athletic program at Valley High School.

The Rotary Club of Lonaconing is actively engaged in exploring the possibilities of introducing the gridiron sport at Valley, and enthusiasm is said to be running high among citizens of the area served by the school.

Football was inaugurated at Bruce High School in Westernport last year after a successful fund-raising campaign and Valley followers intend to follow the lead of their Tri-Towns neighbors.

William McElvie, president of the Rotary Club, stated last night that committees will soon be named and the organization will start pushing for a drive to get football at Valley.

Paul D. Beable, Valley principal, spoke to the club at its meeting.

There can be many a slip by a football team of any caliber during the "upset month" of November but the Longhorns now seem assured of the South-west Conference championship, a Cotton Bowl bid and the national title.

The list of perfect-record major teams was reduced to "text-as-period, pardner"—when the Longhorns downed Baylor, 7-0, Saturday, while Mississippi State beat Auburn, 13-10, and Harvard toppled Princeton, 21-7.

Texas' victory was a triumph of ball - control ground offense over fancy passing. The Longhorns banced away for 240 yards on the ground with tailback Tommy Ford gaining 101 on 27 rushes. Baylor's Don Trull completed 19 of 39 passes but was foiled by the Texas defense in close.

Texas scored the game's only touchdown in the third period when Tom Stockton plunged over from the one to climax a 45-yard drive. Texas quarterback Duke Carlisle intercepted a Trull pass in the end zone with 22 seconds left to end Baylor's drive.

ing and outlined four recommendations he believes are necessary before an official campaign can begin, as follows:

1. The people of the community must really want football, enough to give their wholehearted support to the program.

2. The community must be willing to bear its share of the financial burden of such a program.

3. The community should furnish not only the initiative but should be willing to follow the program through to its satisfactory completion.

4. Finally, if the interest is as great as it appears to be, a committee of interested citizens should make an appointment with the superintendent of schools and the county supervisor of physical education to discuss their ambitions concerning football at Valley High School.

Beable also mentioned the many problems involved that would have to be discussed at length and resolved before a football program could succeed.

Valley High was re-classified from a "B" to an "A" school this year, with a male enrollment figure of 236 in the top three grades. At present, Valley has varsity teams in soccer, basketball, baseball and cross country.

Justin Canale kicked field goals of 35 and 36 yards, the second one with 22 seconds left to play, to upset previously unbeaten Auburn. The loss dropped Auburn out of a tie with Mississippi for the South-eastern Conference lead. The Rebels blitzed Tampa, 41-0, and will win the title and a Sugar Bowl bid if they beat Tennessee and Mississippi State.

Harvard Upsets Princeton

The hallowed Ivy League came up with its own shock when Harvard knocked Princeton from the unbeaten ranks. The teams gained a total of only six yards passing during the rain-drenched game, with Harvard's line proving superior to the Tiger forward wall.

Second-ranked Illinois also came a cropper, 14-8, at the hands of Michigan. Bump Elliott's Wolverines recovered four fumbles including one that set up the winning touchdown in the final six minutes, to top brother Pete's Illini despite a statistical edge for Illinois.

The other top-ranked teams which played on Saturday all won.

Navy Belts Terps

Fourth-ranked Navy romped over Maryland, 42-7, sixth-ranked Oklahoma defeated Iowa State, 24-14, eighth-ranked Michigan State topped Purdue, 23-0, ninth-ranked Pittsburgh beat Notre Dame, 27-7, and 10th-ranked Nebraska whipped Kansas, 23-9.

Junior Coffey led a ground assault that totaled 362 yards as Washington defeated California, 39-26, and moved another step toward a Rose Bowl bid. Washington holds a one-game edge the Big Six. USC scored a 25-11 victory Saturday over Stanford on Willie Brown's two touchdown receptions.

Forty Niners Win Over Dallas, 31-24

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Veteran quarterback Lamar McHan hit three touchdown passes on plays covering 27, 46 and 21 yards Sunday, sparking the San Francisco 49ers to a comeback 31-24 victory over Dallas in a National Football League aerial battle.

Don Meredith also connected on three scoring throws and gained 282 yards in the first half to give the Cowboys a 21-10 lead before the 49ers staged a second-half uprising to capture only their second triumph of the campaign.

Rookie Don Lisbon caught McHan's tosses on the scoring plays of 27 and 46 yards while Bernie Casey grabbed the finale.

Tommy Davis booted a 52-yard field goal and the three conversions.

Fort Hill Whips Loyola For Ninth Straight, 34-0

Allegany Blanks Beall; Frostburg And PSC Beaten

Fort Hill gave the first Baltimore eleven to appear on its schedule in 22 years a rude reception Saturday night, romping to a 34-0 triumph over the Loyola Dons at the Stadium.

Allegany chalked up its sixth straight win and seventh in eight starts with a 25-0 blanking of Beall Saturday afternoon at Frostburg.

Potomac State College closed out one of its poorest seasons in history, dropping a 14-13 heart-breaker to Baltimore Junior College in the Monumental City. Frostburg State also had trouble on the road, losing 20-0 to Groves City (Pa.) College.

In a Saturday afternoon battle of former local coaches, Roy Lester's Richard Montgomery gridders defeated Bill Hahn's Wheaton High team, 12-0, to win the Montgomery County scholastic football championship.

Powerful Fort Hill scored twice with less than four minutes gone and went on to rack up its ninth straight victory and seventh shut-out of the season.

Halfback Rich Robinson tallied twice and passed for a third Sentinel TD. The fleet senior raced 29 and six yards into the end zone and connected with Wally Harper on a scoring aerial-run that covered 53 yards. Bob (Dumpy) Wallace galloped 58 yards for a six-point and Bob Henry dived over from the two-yard line.

The last appearance of a Baltimore school against Fort Hill resulted in defeat for the locals. That was in 1941 when City College whipped the Sentinels 33-0. The 9-0 record of the 1963 powerhouse is the best in the state.

Allegany, snapping a three-game Mountaineer winning streak, struck for two first period

Colts' Moore Has Slight Concussion

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Lenny Moore of the Baltimore Colts suffered a slight concussion in the first half of Sunday's NFL game with Detroit and spent the night in the hospital.

Moore was kicked in the head shortly after carrying the ball over what proved to be the decisive touchdown. He retired from the game complaining of dizziness.

Team physician Dr. Erwin Mayer said he thought Moore would be ready for next week's game against Minnesota.

Two Records Fall As Red Wings Win

DETROIT (UPI) — Gordie Howe scored his 545th goal on a spectacular play with Detroit a man short Sunday night to finally crack Maurice Richard's all-time goal scoring record against the Rocket's old team and lead the Red Wings to a 3-0 victory over the Montreal Canadiens.

Detroit goalie Terry Sawchuk also got into the record act as he turned in the 94th shutout of his career to tie the lifetime record set by another former Montreal great, George Hainsworth.

Kelso Favored In Third Shot At Laurel Purse

Mongo Second Choice, French Entries Are 8-1

By GORDON BEARD
Associated Press Sports Writer

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — Trainer Carl Hanford watched Kelso in his final tune-up for Monday's Washington, D.C., International and pronounced the great American champion ready to take on nine other horses from seven nations.

"He's coming up to the race well," Hanford said after the 6-year-old gelding was timed at 36.5 seconds for three-eighths of a mile on the Laurel Race Course turf Sunday morning.

The purse for the 12th running of the International has been increased this year to $150,000, with $90,000 going to the winner. But that would seem secondary to owner Mrs. Richard C. duPont, Hanford . . . and Kelso.

Prestige is the prize as Kelso tries for the third time to win the mile and one-half grass race and add world honors to his American horse-of-the-year award — which he has already clinched for an unprecedented fourth straight time.

Pushed T. V. Lark

Kelso finished second in his two previous International starts. He pushed America's T. V. Lark to a course record in 1961, and lost in the stretch last year to Match II of France. That was the third victory for France and gave the foreigners a 6-5 edge.

Kelso has been established the even-money favorite, with Mrs. Marion duPont Scott's Mongo rated second choice at 5-1. Nyrcos and Misti of France and Imperial of Hungary are bracketed at 8-1, followed by Espresso of England and Perumbras of Venezuela at 10-1, the Russian entry of Ivory II and Brynask at 15-1 and Christmas Island of Ireland at 20-1.

Unbeaten since losing to Beau Purple in the Widener Handicap, Feb. 23, Kelso has won nine of 11 stakes races this year, including the last eight in a row.

"He's just as good now as ever . . . he might even be better," Hanford said.

Walked Up To Tape

Before the workout witnessed by an anxious Mrs. DuPont, Kelso was walked up to the new market tape which is used instead of a starting gate in deference to foreign entries.

"I just wanted him to get used to standing at the tape in the right direction," Hanford said. "He broke from the tape the other day, so I didn't want him to do it again. Then he would be too anxious to start when he got there Monday."

"I'd rather have him settle down at the tape and in the right direction, than to be too anxious and break sideways. That wouldn't do me any good."

Hanford said he expected Kelso's main opposition to come from Mongo and possibly Misti, who finished fifth in the 1961 International as a 3-year-old.

"We don't know how the foreign horses like to run," Hanford said. "We have no charts on them, so we just have to guess. I'll leave that up to Milo (Jockey Ismael Valenzuela)."

Strong Grass Runner

Mongo, a strong runner on the grass, has won the Bowie, Camden, Diamond State, Kelly Olympic and United Nations Handicaps this season.

In their only head-to-head battle, Kelso won the Campbell Handicap on Bowie's dirt track and Mongo was fourth, 6 1/2 lengths behind. Mongo carried 128 pounds and Kelso 131.

Kelso has one victory and three seconds in five grass starts, compared with 30 victories in 39 starts on the dirt. A triumph Monday would increase his total winnings to $1,646,702 and leave him just $103,167 short of Round Table's all-time record.

County Zoning Law Meetings Set Next Week

Land Use Study Is Completed

The Allegany County Planning and Zoning Commission will hold a series of meetings next week in four communities of the county for the purpose of explaining some of the features of the new proposed permanent zoning ordinance.

James A. Perrin, commission chairman, said that interested persons will have an opportunity to ask questions and in order to answer as many as possible the commission is asking that all questions be written on paper which will be provided at the meetings.

In order to provide an opportunity for as many persons as possible to attend, identical meetings will be scheduled as follows:

First At Flintstone

Monday, November 18, Flintstone High School; Tuesday, Cresaptown School; Wednesday, Mt. Savage High School; and Thursday, Valley High School, Lonaconing. Meeting time will be at 7:30 p. m.

The county has had an interim zoning ordinance since October 26, 1961, according to Mr. Perrin, who said it is a temporary ordinance that was adopted to provide some zoning protection for the county while a permanent ordinance was being developed by the commission.

Before the permanent zoning ordinance could be developed, studies had to be made of how the land is being used now and the proposed use of land in the future.

These studies have been completed and are being used to help establish district boundary lines for the new zoning ordinance. In addition, the Commission has been examining the text material of this new ordinance and tailoring it to fit the problems of the county.

Two Hearings Needed

Before this new permanent ordinance can be put into effect two public hearings must be held, one by the Planning and Zoning Commission and one by the County Commissioners. At this time all interested citizens will be given an opportunity to express their views and specific recommendations.

Mr. Perrin pointed out that since the draft is a rather lengthy, highly technical publication and subject to some changes, it would be rather expensive to have it printed at this time.

However, he added, any interested person may examine a copy of the proposed zoning ordinance at the Commission office in the basement of the Court House during regular office hours.

Christmas Shopping Shorter

Persons who completed their Christmas shopping and mailed their Yule cards at the last minute last year are in for a rude awakening this year.

Individuals will have five days less to do their Christmas shopping than they did last year because Thanksgiving falls on November 28 this year, a week later than last year.

Traditionally the Christmas shopping season begins the day after Thanksgiving so this year there will be 22 shopping days until Christmas, five less than in 1962.

The United States Congress, in 1941, set aside the fourth Thursday of November for Thanksgiving, and the Christmas shopping season usually starts right after the Fall holiday.

Both the Post Office and merchants are aware of the shorter shopping and mailing season even though the shopper may not be. Both groups plan to inform the public to do their shopping and card mailing as early as possible and avoid the last minute rush.

Dwelling Permits Issued By City

Permits for two dwellings have been issued by the City of Cumberland.

Robert T. Fletcher, 14 Market Street, secured a permit to build a one-story dwelling at 1335 Shades Lane. It will be 26 by 28 feet and of frame construction.

John L. Estes, 1319 Virginia Avenue, was issued a permit to build a one-story dwelling over an existing garage at the rear of 715 Lafayette Avenue. It will be about 24 by 32 feet and of frame construction.

County Land Use Explained

College Students May Apply For Naval School

Students of area colleges are reminded that applications for the Naval Reserve Officer Candidate School at Newport, R. I., during summer vacations are still being accepted.

The Reserve Officer Candidate (ROTC) program provides an opportunity for freshman, sophomore and junior college students to earn commissions in the United States Naval Reserve by attending two eight-week summer sessions while on vacation from school. Commissions are granted at graduation or upon completion of the second summer course, whichever is later.

To be eligible, the college student must be a citizen of the United States, be at least 17 years old and not older than 27½ at the time of commissioning, be physically qualified, mentally and morally qualified, possess leadership ability and be a civilian Naval Reservist in good standing.

The applicant need not be a Naval Reservist at the time of application, but if he is selected, he must enlist in the Reserve for six years and attend weekly drills during the time he is in college.

After being commissioned he will serve three years as an officer in the general line, the supply corps or the civil engineer corps, depending largely upon his college major.

ROC candidates receiving pay for all reserve drills attended and full pay and allowances, plus transportation, quarters, meals, textbook and supplies each summer at Newport. While on active duty following graduation and commissioning the pay is approximately $350 per month in addition to all living expenses, medical and dental care, transportation and special duty allowances.

Duties performed will be in the nautical skill areas of seamanship, navigation, gunnery, communications, damage control, engineering and flight or missile operations.

The deadline for filing advance application forms is December 15. Quotas are being filled rapidly but there are billets still available for those who can qualify. Information and necessary forms may be obtained at the U.S. Naval and Marine Corps Training Center in Cumberland (PA 2-0970). Interested College students are urged to call or visit the local facility as soon as possible.

FSC President Is Relieved Of His Duties

R. Bowen Hardesty Enters Hospital

R. Bowen Hardesty, who was relieved of his duties Saturday as president of Frostburg State College, was admitted to Church Home and Hospital in Baltimore yesterday to undergo medical attention.

The Board of Trustees of Maryland State Colleges has named Dr. Rudolph S. Bremen, current head of the Division of Humanities of the college and chairman of the modern foreign languages department, to serve as interim acting president of the Frostburg college.

The announcement of Mr. Hardesty being relieved of his duties and the appointment of Dr. Bremen was made Saturday after a six-hour closed door session of the board of trustees at the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

The board met in executive session to hear a subcommittee report on the condition of unrest and dissension between Mr. Hardesty and the students and some faculty members at the college. The board said it would meet with Mr. Hardesty on the matter when his health permits.

In another surprise action Saturday, the board of trustees appointed Comer S. Coppel, current budget analyst of the State Budget Bureau, as executive director of Maryland state colleges, a new position created during the last session of the Maryland legislature.

The subcommittee's investigation last week was made at the request of the Frostburg Chapter of the American Association of University Professors and the student body. Both groups claimed Mr. Hardesty was too authoritarian and that the administration was stifling free speech and thought. There has been a condition of unrest and tension at the Frostburg college since last spring.
